

Activism in Action

AIA project aims at empowering youth workers to educate, inspire, and guide young people in becoming activists. The project develops the AIA Guide which is based on inspiring stories and portraits of activists who have made an impact and are successful with using activism. The Guide will serve as a valuable resource for youth organizations and young individuals embarking on their activism journey. During workshops the materials will be showcased and discussed. All materials will be freely available on www.activisminaction.eu.

The project's primary focus is on engaging with activists dedicated to social justice, climate justice, and addressing human rights violations. Their experiences and narratives will serve as valuable lessons and inspiration. The goal is to bridge the knowledge and skills gap, empowering people to actively participate and support youth activism initiatives aimed at positive societal change.
